Fair and warm, hi today high 80's, lo tonight mid-50's. Precipitation probability near zero.

PRESIDENT WILKINSON ADDRESSES STUDENTBODY ...

President Ernest L. Wilkinson tells the first forum assembly, they can use his life as an example to avoid mistakes and learn that new resolutions can be effected in our lives.

Pres. Wilkinson Opens Year's Forums With Examples From Personal Life

Inserting humorous quips and jests, BYU President Ernest L. Wilkinson credited the rescue of "the young man who was raised in Hell's Half Acre, who engaged in cock-fighting, associated with criminals, spent his time with pals who had no real purpose in life and who could have followed in their footsteps," mainly to hard work and the Church.

Pres. Wilkinson addressed the forum assembly Thursday as the year's first speaker.

"I make this confession to you today," Pres. Wilkinson stated, "because if there are any of you who find that you are slaves to pernicious habits, or have associations which you must sever, or new resolutions which you must effect, I offer myself as an example that it can be done."

APPRECIATES MOTHER

Pres. Wilkinson expressed appreciation to his "angel mother" who brought him under the influence of the Church in his teens. At 15 years of age he became the assistant Sunday School Superintendent of his ward and his school work suffered as he accepted positions as student body president and newspaper editor.

It was his immigrant father who taught him the habit of hard work. "My father, despite his shortcomings and inactivity for sometimes a the Church, was the hardest working man I have ever known."

"In order to see that his children obtained the education our saintly father desired," continued Pres. Wilkinson, "Father, until he was seventy years of age generally held two full-time jobs simultaneously."

In the introduction by Administrative Assistant to Wilkinson, Pres. Stephen R. Covey, revealed how Pres. Wilkinson had followed and acquired his father's drive. A tabulation of hours and days showed that the president had put forth far more hours than the normal 5-day, 8-hour per day, worker. In years, the president has crowded into 16 years, 26 years of work.

"The opportunity to work is God's greatest gift to man, and this means six days a week," said Pres. Wilkinson.

He continued by saying "If you develop the habit of work, it will be the most invigorating, satisfying, relaxing, and greatest blessing of your life."

TAKE OPPORTUNITIES

Along with bearing his testimony to the value of tithing, Pres. Wilkinson, backed with experiences, stated, "Many of you will now have to make decisions, some for the first time. Do not shrink from it; seize the opportunity, but do it cautiously and prayerfully, with all the advice you can get."

The president closed by telling of the time when he was struck with a fatal disease.

"I promised my Heavenly Father that if He would spare my life, I would serve this institution if ever the opportunity presented itself. Little did I realize that about thirty years later I would be appointed president of Brigham Young University, and that my office would be the room where I was restored to health."

"I humbly hope that in that capacity I have kept my promise."

GRATEFUL STUDENTBODY

The packed fieldhouse responded with a thundering barrage of applause.

The opening remarks of Pres. Wilkinson included personal greetings from President David O. McKay to the studentbody. He also reiterated a statement made by Pres. McKay after a recent visit when he said, "You not only have the greatest studentbody led by the finest faculty, but you now have the most beautiful campus. This has been one of the most memorable days of my life."

5000 BYU Students Can Claim Prizes

Five thousand BYU students have been awarded prizes by the merchants of Provo. The only catch is, the students must locate the merchandise today and Saturday, or they'll never see it.

Extending a warm welcome to the studentbody, 56 downtown stores are offering over $10,000 in prizes and selling merchandise at reduced rates.

The two day sale and prize festival is called the BYU Days Downtown and is sponsored by the Provo Retail Merchants Council and the Provo Chamber of Commerce.

RED CARPET

According to Dal Clark, chairman of the BYU Days and vice-president of Clark's Stores, the annual event is an effort by businessmen to let Y students know the "red carpet" is out to welcome them and to acquaint them with the various stores and services available in Provo.

During the two days parking meters will not be checked by the police department but will be covered with paper bags.

Among prizes offered, Taylor's Department Store has the largest offering, totaling about $3,000 in merchandise.

Clark's is offering 170 prizes worth $1,000, the most valuable of which is a pair of Head skis.

REFRESHMENTS

Many of the 54 other stores offering prizes will be giving away cider and doughnuts Saturday.

McDonald's drive in will award 1,000 free hamburgers to BYU students the same day.

Bill Witherspoon, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said that lists of students and the prizes they have won will be posted in all participating stores.

A total of 5,000 names and student numbers were provided by the University IBM from scrambled registration roles. The names were arbitrarily assigned to stores, although in some cases names were separated according to sex and given to men's and women's shops accordingly.

PRIZES ASSIGNED

In some stores names have been assigned prizes, while in others they will be given on a first come, first serve basis.

To publicize the BYU Days Downtown, all three Provo radio stations will be broadcasting from downtown, while the Provo Herald distributed 15,000 extra copies of their Thursday edition throughout the campus and University housing areas. The paper will contain a special insert listing bus routes, schedules and information on Provo in general.

According to Witherspoon, the downtown area participating is from Third North on University Ave to Fourth West on Center St. Some stores on Ninth East will also be involved, as well as some other stores scattered throughout Provo.

Dancing Slated Fri.—Dogpatch Sat.—Skyroom

The spirit of Dogpatch will be evident in the Wilkinson Center ballroom tonight as the Sadie Hawkins Dance gets underway at 8:30 p.m.

Picn patches purchased by girls for 75 cents per couple and attached to the boy of their choice will admit couples to the dance, which will feature square dancing on the west patio with a professional caller.

SKYROOM DINNER-DANCE

A more glamorous setting will entertain couples attending the Skyroom dinner dance, "Evening in the Stars," Saturday night at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $5.50 per couple. A limited number of couples will be admitted to the event, which will include a three-course meal and dancing to the Carl Williams Quintet. The Johnson Sisters will provide additional entertainment during the meal.

Please don't zlupf Sprite.
It makes plenty of noise
all by itself.

Sprite, you recall, is the soft drink that's so tart and tingling, we just couldn't keep it quiet.

Flip its lid and it really flips.
Bubbling, fizzing, gurgling, hissing and oaring on all over the place.

An almost excessively lively drink.
Hence, to zlupf is to err.

What is zlupping?

Zlupping is to drinking what smacking one's lips is to eating.

It's the staccato buzz you make when draining the last few deliciously tangy drops of Sprite from the bottle with a straw.

Zzzzzllupf!

It's completely uncalled for.
Frowned upon in polite society.
And not appreciated on campus either.

But, if zlupping Sprite is absolutely essential to your enjoyment; if a good healthy zlupf is your idea of heaven, well...all right.

But have a heart. With a drink as noisy as Sprite, a little zlupf goes a long, long way.

BYU Post Office Seventh In State

Located adjacent to the Games Center on the first floor of the Wilkinson Center is the seventh largest Post Office and largest Contract Post Office in Utah.

Contract Post Office simply means that the Postal Service pays the University for the right to operate here. A three year contract is issued by the University.

According to Contract Postmaster C. R. Peterson, new Post Office hours are in effect this year. Week day hours will be from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on Saturday the hours will be from 8 a.m. until noon. The non-profit stamp machine will be in operation as long as the building remains open.

Due to the foreign student program and the amount of girls writing to missionaries, the Campus

Post Office handles more foreign mail than any post office in Utah.

The fact that students have been taking advantage of the package wrapping service offered in the post office is evidenced by the fact that since January a total of 22,338 packages have been sent from this location.

Another service offered by the post office is that no stamp is necessary to send a letter to any campus address including Helama Halls and Deseret Towers, if the letter is mailed at the campus post office.

Mail for Heritage Halls, Wyomount Terrace and Wyview Village are handled by the Provo City Post Office and require postage. Postal authorities report that students living at these addresses should not include BYU in their address since this creates more work for the postal authorities and delays the mail at least one day.

The post office employs four full-time people and two part time students, all hired through the Civil Service Commission.

Comedy, Drama, Music Color 66-67 Y Theatre

"Dear Me, The Sky is Falling," a modern comedy written by Leonard Spiegelgass, will open the 1966-67 theatre season for Brigham Young University.

The comedy, directed by Dr. Preston Giedhill, will be the first of eleven productions combining drama, comedy, satire, and music offered during the season.

"Dear Me, The Sky is Falling," running Oct. 12-29, is an amiably flavormed matzo-ball soap opera. When a Jewish Mother is informed that she is too middlemoss and possessive, Mama joins daughter on the psychiatrist's couch in her own way until at play's end, everyone is "well-adjusted."

"A Man For All Seasons" by Robert Bolt recounts the life and subsequent death of Thomas More, lawyer, writer, and for three years Lord Chancellor to Henry VIII of England. Mr. Bolt dramatizes the wisdom of the man who refuses to yield to the dictates of expediency, and he exposes the common man who fails to fight in defense of such a person.

Dr. Harold I. Hansen will direct the drama scheduled to run Oct. 11-29 in the Margarets Arena Theater.

A nostalgic comedy by Eugene O'Neill, "Ah, Wilderness," is the third production of the season to run Nov. 30-Dec. 17. Dr. Charles Metten will direct the play. The plot depicts a family's youngest son, an idyllic portrait of youth in love not only with his first sweetheart, but with his first awakening of life.

Dr. Lael J. Woodbury, chairman of the Drama Department, will direct "The Lute Song," by Will Irwin and Sidney Howard, Jan. 4-16. An enchanting Chinese drama with music, the play has been acted out for 500 years by strolling players and showboat troupes. The plot concerns a perfect wife whose husband leaves her to seek fame as a scholar.

One of the most phenomenal successes in theatrical history, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" by Frank Loesser and Abe Burrows, will be staged Feb. 15-18. Directed by Professor Max Golightly, the musical is a light sprig of corporate wheels and wiles featuring an up-from-window-washer hero who is eager to score on the inside instead of courting the outside of World Wide tickets. His glib and handbook-success make him the greatest play-boy in the history of office-anship.

"The Dragon" by Yevgeny Schwartz, a seldom-produced, often-criticized Soviet playwright, is scheduled for Mar. 1-18. This satire is an exposure of the fatal relationship between people and their leaders. Professor Charles Whitman will direct this 1961 hit of Russia's Leningrad Comedy Theatre.

Season tickets are available from the Ticket Office of the Harris-

Fine Arts Center. All productions will be staged in the Fine Arts Center which houses four separate theaters: Pardoe Drama Theater, Margarets Arena Theater, delong Concert Hall and the Nelke Experimental Theater.

Productions will run nightly except Tuesday and Sunday at 8:15 p.m.

IOC Schedules Meeting With Campus Clubs

A meeting of the Inter Organizational Council of BYU has been scheduled for Monday at 8:30 p.m. in 247 Wilkinson Center.

It is mandatory that a representative from each campus club be in attendance. Penalty for not attending the meeting will be a loss of scheduling privileges, according to Ivo Rosaefer, IOC president.

BYU Alum. Dedicated To Service

Ronald G. Hyde is serving as director of Alumni relations and executive secretary of the BYU Alumni Association.

Hyde has been serving as acting director and secretary for the past two years, replacing Raymond E. Beckham.

Beckham was appointed director of University Development.

Prior to being acting director and secretary, Hyde joined Beckham on the alumni staff in 1958 when the Dealey Fund was established. He also served as Alumni Fund Director.

The alumni phase of the Dealey Fund was successfully completed and the present national Alumni Fund established.

Hyde has traveled extensively for BYU and is well known to the alumni from coast to coast.

He has served for terms as the representative from the Intermountain region on the Educational Fund Raising Committee of the American Alumni Council. In addition, he has accomplished extensive research in alumni fund raising, and has been an active speaker on alumni topics, presenting numerous papers and lectures at national conferences and workshops.

Hyde first came to BYU as an undergraduate in 1947. After his graduation from the University of Idaho in 1951, service in the U.S. Air Force, and a mission to the Eastern States, he returned to BYU to earn his master's degree in

Dr. Oliver R. Smith, professor of communications at BYU, has been announced by the National Council of College Publications Advisers as one of two recipients of its 1966 Distinguished Adviser Award.

The award plaques will be presented at the Council's annual convention Oct. 20-22 at Philadelphia to Dr. Smith and Dr. Roy G. Campbell of Northern Illinois University.

15 YEARS SERVICE

The honor to Dr. Smith recognizes his 15 years of service as chairman of student publications at BYU, and as adviser to the campus newspaper, yearbook, and directory. During this period the Daily Universe has won several awards and has advanced from semi-weekly to daily publication.

The Biyearn, BYU yearbook, has also won All-American honors and has grown to be one of the largest self-supporting college yearbooks in the country. With a record size of 336 pages in 1966, its copy, photography, and layouts were produced entirely by student journalists on the campus, with all costs being met by sales of the book.

HONORARY ADVISER

In 1961-62 Dr. Smith also served as adviser to the student newspaper and yearbook at the Church College of Hawaii while on leave from BYU.

The BYU professor was a charter member of the National Council of College Publications Advisers and served as head of its Rocky Mountain region and as editorial vice-chairman. He currently is chairman of its committee on liaison with other press organizations.

For eight years Dr. Smith has been executive secretary of the Rocky Mountain Collegiate Press Association, a regional organization serving student publications at colleges and universities in Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona, and New Mexico.

Artistic Talents

The pep committee is seeking assistance, according to the Student Relations Office.

People with artistic talent and original ideas are urged to apply immediately in room 435 of the Wilkinson Center.

The pep committee is organized for the purpose of encouraging interest in campus activities and sports events and raising school spirit.

Wilkinson Center

Among the services offered by the Wilkinson Center are an artistic information survey and a reference listing of all registered students.

The automatic system, which gives times and places of student events—movies, dances, plays, etc.—is available on extension 3311.

The list of students is available at the stereo control room from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. An additional list is also available in room 328 from 2 a.m. to 5 p.m.

business management

He worked for the Patterson Sales Office in southern California before joining the alumni staff.

Hyde is the bishop of the BYU 28th Ward and a captain in the Air Force Reserve. His married Mary Helen Friedman and they have two sons and two daughters.

ATHLETES' FOOTNOTES

Athletes
Astonishingby Gary Wood
Associate Sports Editor

Brigham Young University's athletic teams achieved an astonishing record during the 1965-66 school year. The overall win-loss mark of the Cougar squads was 121-40, and included conference championships in four sports, second place finishes in five others, and a third place in another.

BYU teams were ranked nationally at one time or another in no less than seven different sports.

YEAR'S HIGHLIGHT

Probably the highlight of the year was the unanimous victory of Coach Stan Watts' casaba squad in the National Invitational Tournament in New York last March.

The Cougar tracksters,—guided by Coach Clarence Robison—which have for many years been one of the strong standard bearers of BYU sports prominence, brought more glory to the school by placing second in the nation in last summer's NCAA championships.

A superb come-through performance by the Y wrestling team and by the underdog golf and tennis squads resulted in conference titles and in post-season recognition.

WITHIN EYELASH

The Cougar athletes in basketball, cross country, gymnastics, track, and baseball (Northern Division of the Western Athletic Conference) came within an eyelash of earning first place honors in the WAC, and the Y swimmers placed a strong third in their first year of competition since the '20's.

BYU teams in the non-varsity sports performed creditably also. The volleyball squad, under the direction of Coach John Lowell—now Athletic Director of the Church College of Hawaii—placed third in the NCAA finals.

Volumes could be written about the many outstanding and inspired accomplishments of the competitors representing BYU in intercollegiate athletics during the past scholastic year.

GRIDDERS KEY

But perhaps one of the real keys to the exceptional success of the BYU sports year was the astounding success of Coach Tommy Hudspeth's gritty, talented band of gridiron warriors.

Accomplishing a large economy-sized sports miracle, Coach Hudspeth and his very capable staff transformed the doormat football team into a championship article. BYU had never won a league title, and the last winning season for a Cougar football team was 1958, when the Blue and White tallied a 6-4 record.

The Cougar grid squad had finished dead last in 1963 and 1964, and was everybody's choice to repeat the ignominy in 1965.

CAME TO STAY

But the new Y mentor had "come to stay", as he himself put it when he took over the fortunes of BYU football.

The Cougars had an imposing task awaiting them in 1966—four of five WAC games on the road, where BYU grid teams had often met their collective Waterloo.

GUNS AND GUTS

But Coach Hudspeth's determined gang had the guns and the guts to overcome the obstacles, coming through with triumphs in three of the four road contests to place undisputed claim to the conference title.

The Y coaching staff came up with an offense so potent that the Cougars wound up fourth in the nation in total yards gained, and ninth in passing.

Among all the glory and honors and rewards befitting such achievements, one event stands out for the gridiron group: beating Utah, 25-20—only the third Cougar victory in 41 attempts.

Quite a season.

PROBLEMS REVERSED

But 1966's problem will be reversed from those of last year.

"This time around, for perhaps the first time," smiles Coach Hudspeth, "nobody will be looking past BYU."

On the contrary, everybody points for the conference lamp—ask Coach Watts.

And nobody likes to get beat by Brigham Young, ask San Jose State or Utah.

But the twinkle in Coach Hudspeth's eye is a warning to opposing coaches that the Cougars will be equal to the challenge.

What can foes expect from the 1966 Cougars? "Just that they could expect from us last year," beams the personable mentor, "When they play BYU, they'd better be ready for about anything."

Bowling
Tryouts
Scheduledby Dave Hoover
Universe Sportswriter

Students desiring to compete for one of the eight slots on the men's or women's intercollegiate bowling team must participate in a rolloff scheduled for Tuesday at 7 p.m.

According to Shafter Bown, Wilkinson Center games manager, each student will bowl at least fifteen lines for a fair determination of averages. The top eight finalists will be awarded a position on the team, as determined by their total average.

BOWLING PRIVILEGES

Team members will have the privilege of bowling practice lines; Monday through Friday, on lanes that will be withdrawn from open bowling.

It was announced by Mike Klein, ASBYJ Games Committee Chairman, that all new team members would be required to show amateur standing and meet the approval of the team advisor.

Those who qualify for the team will represent BYU in the Inter-mountain Bowling Conference, the Associated College Unions Tournament at Phoenix, Ariz., and the Wilkinson Center Invitational final match. Colleges participating in the conference are Utah State, Utah, Weber State and Idaho State.

KEGLERS NEEDED

More keglers are needed for the Faculty-Staff handicap league. According to Milt Sharp, league president, there are slots open for three bowlers.

The new league which meets Mondays at 7 p.m. is ABC sanctioned and consists of 14 mixed teams.

Soccer Players
Begin Practices

All students interested in playing international football—referred to in the U.S.A. as soccer—are invited to meet with Coach Ole Juklunen and the BYU soccer team during their practice sessions Tuesdays and Thursdays 4-6 p.m. at Haws Field.

Composed of students from various parts of the world, the Brigham booters saw a lot of action last year, plus a good measure of success.

TWO TEAMS

There is an "A" and a "B" team. Both teams will play busy schedules said Coach Juklunen.

Greene, Lolich, Weir . . .

Y Baseballers Turn Pro

by Gorm Klungervik
Universe Sportswriter

"It's like trying to get along without your heart," lamented Brigham Young University head baseball coach, Glen Tuckett, on the loss of three Cougar diamond men to the pros during the summer.

John Greene, Frank Lolich and Tom Weir, all standouts with the Cougar nine last season, and all with a year of college eligibility left prematurely ended their college athletic careers by signing with professional ballclubs after last year's season finale.

Gary Roberts, standout second baseman lost to graduation, also won a pro contract.

Greene, originally lured to the BYU campus via football opportunity, proved his total worth to Y athletics by becoming a stalwart on the baseball squad.

He was wooed by the Kansas City Athletics, and after conferring with head football coach Tommy Hudspeth, decided to sign if the A's would "make it worth my while."

Worth his while is a reportedly $29,000 to sign plus yearly contract. John will continue his studies at BYU and help coach the freshman football team.

Frank Lolich succumbed to the urgings of the New York Mets, cutting his college eligibility short with a crack at the majors.

The Lolich name is not a newcomer to the annals of professional baseball. Frank has a brother who plays infield for the White Sox and a cousin who is a chucker with the Detroit Tigers.

Frank signed for an estimated $50,000.

The Yankees and the Baltimore Orioles have reportedly been after Tom Weir—catcher turned outfielder on last season's nine—for two years. They used $25,000 as bait on the slugger, but Weir, studying pre-med, wanted to finish Dental school.

The Boston Red Sox finally started speaking his language, a bit higher than previous offers, and dental school and BYU competition became second in line.

Gary Roberts was the only one of the new pros who had finished his college career before being lured into the big leagues.

Ags Still Ambitious Despite Loss To Lobos

LOGAN, Utah UPS—Utah State's ambitious Aggies looked like anything but a condemned or doomed team this week as they went through spirited workouts in preparation for Saturday's big inter-sectional football game against powerful Nebraska.

The Aggies and Cornhuskers clash at Lincoln Saturday, and Nebraska, nationally-ranked, represents the toughest foe ever scheduled by a Utah State football team.

AGGIES UPSET

A week ago the game rated as one in which the Aggies had a chance, but after the New Mexico game, the Cornhuskers were immediately stamped as heavy favorites.

While the Aggies were frustrated with their performance in the 17-8 loss to New Mexico, the disappointment didn't seem to show on the players.

DOUBLE WORKOUT

"The kids were mad at themselves for the bad start and they know they're capable of playing better ball than we showed last Saturday," said Coach Tony Knap as he sent his charges through a double workout.

Knap ordered the two-day drills Monday and the Aggies were expected to taper off Thursday and depart for Lincoln Friday morning. They planned an afternoon workout in the Nebraska capital.

"Our boys have a lot of pride and confidence. They're capable of bouncing back," said Knap.

BIG PUZZLE

Inability to sustain an offense against the Lobos puzzled the Aggies each and he planned some lineup changes for Saturday. Most notable lineup shake-up would put MacArthur Lane, a defensive specialist last year, at the number one tailback spot ahead of Eric Mung'ani.

Mung'ani was number two man behind Roy Shivers last year and replaced Shivers after the latter passed his final year of eligibility.

day to sign with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League.

Knap said other changes would probably be made but he didn't elaborate.

EDWARDS HURT

It appeared second string quarterback Ron Edwards would see more action than usual since No. 1 signal caller Ron Edwards suffered a slight concussion in the New Mexico game and was ordered to take it easy in practice this week. Defensive tackle Murty Nadle will miss the game with a badly sprained ankle but defensive back Henry King will be ready.

Cat Cagers To Holiday Tourney

Coach Stan Watts and BYU's NIT Champion cagers return in the role of one of their greatest triumphs this year when they join seven other teams for the 15th annual Holiday Festival in Madison Square Garden.

They will very likely be one of the favorites again (they were first seeded in this year's NIT) for the three day holiday tournament scheduled for Dec. 28-30 in New York City.

First round of play is Dec. 28, with semi-final and final rounds to follow Dec. 29 and 30.

Other teams entered in the tournament are Northwestern, Providence (the defending champion), Duquesne, Rhode Island, St. Joseph, St. John's and St. Joseph's.

This will be the Cougars' third trip to the Holiday Festival. They participated in the 1963 and 1966 tournaments in the Garden.

Busy WAC Weekend Schedule

by Dennis Read
Assistant Sports Editor

Western Athletic Conference and intermountain area football teams have a full slate of games on tap this weekend, though for several it will be the first clash of the season.

So it is with the Mountain Cats of BYU who tangle with the Spartans of San Jose State. The Cougars, surprise conference winners last season, hope to repeat as champs this year. The Cougars dropped the Spartans 34-7 last year.

SPARTANS NEAR-WIN

But the Spartans will take to the field with an impressive 25-21 record against Stanford last weekend on the strength of which several sportswriters—not of the intermountain area—are giving the nod to SJS.

If physical strength and experience mean anything, the Cougars should take the Spartans.

The Redskins of Utah take to the road to do battle with the Ducks of Oregon. Despite a 17-0 loss at the hands of Oklahoma, the Ducks look tough and new Ute coach Mike Giddings and his band will have their hands full.

ARIZONA LOST

The University of Arizona lost last week 31-30 to a strong Iowa team coached by former Utah mentor Ray Nagle. This week the Wildcats tangle with another formidable foe from the northwest, Kansas. The Jayhawks are rated six-point favorites.

Over at Laramie the Cowboys will take on visiting Arizona State with a 12-0 victory over the Air Force last week. Wyoming looks like the winner in a close contest. Arizona State, second after BYU in the WAC last year, won over Texas Western last week by a 36-35 margin.

Gridders Ready For Spartans n Sat. Opener, Says Hudspeth

by Gary Wood

Brigham Young University's football coach Tommy Hudspeth and his physically healthy, mentally anxious crew of footers depart this afternoon for their first outing of the year, at San Jose State.

The Cougar gridders will leave the Spartan encounter from the Helaman Hall complex at 3 p.m. for a 4:30 char- light in Salt Lake City.

Early in the 1965 season a young cougar Cougar group rose up smack down the San Jose squad, —the first BYU victory in nine s against the Spartans.

However, the San Jose eleven five of its last six contests season and any thoughts of their easy BYU win were dis- sed last Saturday by the Spar- s' great showing against Stan- .

San Jose's inexperienced and in-San Jose's 17,000-seat Spartan Stadium for the 8 p.m. game.

The Cougar team is due to arrive at John Hall at 3 a.m. Sunday. The tentative starting lineup for the Cougars (asterisk indicates varsity letters earned):

y-riddled footballers rolled up a 10 lead in the third quarter over highly-touted Indians before succumbing to a late rally, 25-21. "We know that San Jose is going to be real tough," assured Coach Hudspeth Thursday. "We expect a tough game from them, and only hope that our boys are not taking them lightly, because if they are, they're going to end up on the low end of the score—no doubt about it."

Coach (John) Ralston is supposed to have his finest football team at Stanford," he continued in reference to San Jose's performance against the Indians, "and I'm really worried about this on Saturday."

"However," the BYU mentor emphasized, "we feel we have a very good football team this year, and we feel we are physically and mentally ready for Saturday's game."

BYU's starting offensive line will average 217 pounds and the backfield 199. Defensively the Cougar's line average 216 pounds in the line and 191 in the secondary.

Two Lead Roles Open In Play

The Culture Office announces that two of the lead roles for Stravinsky's L'Histoire du Soldat are open for tryouts. These are the major roles of the soldier and the devil.

The Culture Office and the Music Department are combining efforts to present the play. Inter- ested persons may apply to Judy Jacobs in 427 ELWC.

Pep Rally Set For Afternoon

Coach Hudspeeth has encouraged everyone to support the team and attend Friday's Pep Rally at 3 p.m. in the John Hall parking lot, Helaman Halls.

According to Steve Gillespie, Assistant Pep Committee Chairman, a bus will go to on-campus housing areas to furnish transportation to the rally. The bus is sponsored by the Young Men.

Gillespie said that the send-off will take the place of a student bus to San Jose which cannot be arranged because of the distance. All pep groups will be represented including the Cougarettes, Young Men, Flag Twirlers, and Yell and Song Leaders.

Are you discontented enough to work for G.E.?

Does water pollution bug you? Or smog? Does it concern you that some places in the country never have enough teachers? Or nurses? And when you read about the growing pains of a developing nation, do you wish you could do something?

You can. Thousands of General Electric people are helping to solve the problems of a growing, changing world.

Generating more (and cheaper) electricity with nuclear reactors. Controlling smog in our cities and pollution in our streams. Using electronics to bring the teaching skills of an expert into many classrooms at once, the trained eyes of a nurse into many hospital rooms at once.

If you're not content with the world as it is... and if you have the brains, imagination and drive to help build a better one, we'd like to talk to you.

See the man from G.E. during his next campus visit. Come to General Electric, where the young men are important men.

BYU'S ROTC Cadets Win Summer Awards

Lt. Col. Paul H. Sharp, professor of aerospace studies at BYU, has announced that BYU's AFROTC program is rated one of the top programs in the nation.

Last summer BYU cadets were awarded 12 of 31 summer camp awards from encampments across the United States. Competition was in the fields of outstanding summer camp cadet, runner-up to the outstanding cadet, best athlete award, best marksmanship award, and academic awards. Of these awards, BYU's two-year cadets, members of the corps who only participate two years, captured 8 of the 16 awards issued in two-year cadets, or 90 percent of the awards.

The four-year men, those completing four years in the ROTC program, captured five out of 65 awards, for a total of eight per cent.

ONE OF THE BEST

BYU had 36 students out of more than 400 cadets from across the nation. BYU's outstanding rating was one of the best in the nation. BYU won six of the highest awards given at the various summer camps across the nation. The other five awards were one marksmanship award and four outstanding student awards.

Brigham Young ranks 10th out of 82 universities and colleges in the U.S. hosting AFROTC in total male enrollment.

Navy Looking For Pilots, Navigators

Male students interested in naval pilot or navigation programs may see a Naval Aviator Officer Programs Information team on campus, Oct. 2-3.

The program is designed for college students between the ages of 17 and 27, with 20-28 to 28-49 vision and a minimum GPA of 2.0.

Positions Open On Committees Universe, Wye

Several positions on committees and in student government are open to interested students.

Receptionists are needed in the Daily Universe office. Interviews can be arranged with Wendy Johnson, 329 Wilkinson Center, today. The only pay is our gratitude.

Students with ability in layout, editing, proofreading and advertising are needed on the staff of the Wye Magazine, according to editor Lynn Pappas. Interested students should contact Douglas Hill, adviser, 408 Manser Bldg., at the English Dept., 287 McKay Bldg.

Applications are being taken for positions on the BYU pep committee, which is in charge of encouraging and building school spirit. Those interested should apply at 601 Wilkinson Center.

Applications are also being accepted for positions on traffic court justices, 3-5 p.m., 438 Wilkinson Center, until Wednesday.

Four BYU Students Win Music Awards

Four BYU students were winners in the 1966 Utah State Fair music competition held in Salt Lake City last week.

Winning first place awards were Dan Harrison, advanced piano; Bob Galbraith, advanced strings; Melva Allred, advanced voice; and Cynthia Vance, medium strings.

U. OF U. MUSIC HALL

First place winners also performed at a concert held at the University of Utah Music Hall, sponsored by the Salt Lake City Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon Alumnae, the national music fraternity. Music competition at the fair, held September 12-13 at the Hinde State Center.

CASH AWARDS

All first place winners were given cash awards, as well as season tickets to the Utah Symphony. Additional prizes were awarded to Dan Harrison, Grand Prize winner, and Bob Galbraith, as member of greatest promise.

Mr. Galbraith, Mr. Harrison, Melva Allred were awarded tuition scholarships by Brigham Young University.

Activity Planned For Fund Dealers

"Dollar Days," a week-long activity beginning Monday, will feature tips on personal financial management. Posters showing sources and allocations of student funds will be displayed in the sunken lounge of the Wilkinson Center.

Sponsoring the event will be the Finance Office. The office will also host an open house for all club business managers, secretaries and treasurers, Thursday 3-4 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting will be to orient those who deal with class or club funds to better means of budgeting money and working with the Finance Office.

Card Stunt To Be Set Up

Card stunt sections for football games are being organized by Steve Gillespie, who says that no club cards will be necessary to join this year's sections.

Cards will be issued on a first-come basis for those appropriately dressed in white shirts and blouses. Ticket windows will be designated for the sale of card section tickets at games.

10 Dance Bands Needed

The Central Dance Committee has 10 openings for dance bands to play for student body dances. The name and telephone number of the leader of the band should be placed in an envelope and put in the Central Dance Committee's mail box located in the student body offices of the fourth floor of the Wilkinson Center.
